INTRODUCTION

DURING the past half century THE NORTHWESTERN MILLER has continuously compiled and at frequent intervals has published as a service to the flour industry and to the trades allied with it a list of wheat flour mills in the United States and Canada. Since the first LIST OF MILLS was published in the late eighties of the Nineteenth Century, a cumulative record has been maintained. Information is gathered at first hand from the mills, which have been generous in their co-operation. Published revisions are based upon the cumulative record and upon current general questionnaires to the industry. Results of the latest revision, just completed, are presented within these covers.

THE NORTHWESTERN MILLER does not, of course, claim that the list as now published is complete or free from errors. It is, however, as nearly correct and comprehensive as the resources of this publication, combined with the ready assistance of the flour milling industry as a whole, can make it. Omissions or errors to which attention is called will be corrected in later editions.

Mills are listed alphabetically by state or provincial location, and as a new feature of this service they are also listed alphabetically by name.

When the name of a mill's proprietor is known to the compilers of the list, or when the mill is owned by a company having a name different from that of the mill, the owner's name will be found in parentheses. When a mill has a main office elsewhere than in the place where the mill is located, a notation to this effect is made in parentheses. Should the mill be a unit of a company owning other mills, this is so stated, the main office or headquarters of the controlling company also being indicated. Complete data concerning such milling groups will be found by reference to the main office location.

Mills manufacturing feed, self-rising flour, buckwheat flour, oatmeal, cereals or corn products are not shown in this list unless they are processors also of wheat or rye flour with a daily capacity of 25 bbls or more.

In all cases, capacity is shown in terms of 24-hour operation. Figures at the left of the column represent wheat flour; capacity devoted to other products is specified separately. The kind of power used is stated when this information is available. Mills described as "idle" are to be understood as having been out of operation for a considerable period, rather than only temporarily shut down.

THE NORTHWESTERN MILLER's advertisers are recommended to users of this list. Such concerns are invariably the leading ones. Their names are printed in black capital letters.

WEEVIL-CIDE

The Dependable Grain Fumigant

Weevil-Cide.....

has been the leading grain fumigant in the elevators and mills of the United States and Canada during the past decade. In many terminal markets this leadership is unchallenged!

Weevil-Cide.....

has attained this dominant position because no competitive product fulfills in such measure the following requirements:

- No odor or other bad effect on grain
  - Safe and convenient application
  - Consistency as to results
  - Stability of formula
  - Great killing power
  - No fire hazard
  - Economical

A majority of the large users have found Weevil-Cide

—Not lowest in cost per gallon

—But lowest in unit cost per bushel for actual results

equal

a best seller

A good flour plus a good package is a never-failing formula for a best seller. Your brand is often more familiar to the consumer than the name of your company and it deserves the best display you can give it. Millers have learned to rely on Fulton Bleached Bags for dependable quality and on Fulton printing to make their brands really effective advertisements. Our factories, strategically located, are at your command.
